DESERONTO.

Frank O'Dea, of Marinette, Wis., is in town after an absence of fifteen years. He is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Felix Genereau, Main street.

Mr. Earle Galbraith, Yarker, visited with his brother, Mr. Howard Galbraith, and uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kingsbury, over Sunday.

Miss Ella M. Joyce, after spending three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Joyce, left for Fort William to take charge of J. W. Newcombe's millinery department.

Miss Ethel Brown and niece, Miss Wales, of Napanee, were in town on Monday.

The steamer "North King" ran ashore near Belleville recently on her way to Charlotte. A tug was procured from Belleville and after a short delay the steamer was released and proceeded on her way.

About 11.30 on Monday night the dread fire alarm sounded. This time it was not a false alarm, for a fire of considerable dimensions among some frame dwellings on Park street near Mechanic street, was under way by the time the alarm sounded. It is said the fire started in an empty house, how will not probably be known. Before the flames were finally subdued four dwellings were burned, three of them being the property of Mr. Austin Vandusen, Green Point, and one belonging to Mr. Ed. Green. In conversation with Mr. C. J. Anderson, who is summing on Foresters' Island, that gentleman said he received a bad scare as he looked out over the bay,
 as it looked as though the Match Factory, of which Mr. Anderson is manager, was in flames. He lost no time in getting across the bay in his motor boat and great was his relief
 when he found the Match Factory was still intact.

DRAGOONS ARRESTED.

Toronto Pair Thought to Have Set Fire to Stables.

KINGSTON, Aug. 25.—(Special).—Two government detectives have been in the city for several days, working on a case in which two members of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, Toronto, may have to answer serious charges. At the present time the dragoons are locked up at Tete de Pont Barracks, on suspicion of having set fire to the riding stables at the Royal Military College, two months ago.

As yet the military authorities state there has been no charge laid against the men, but it is believed that the two are being put thru a rigid examination by detectives, and that they are not being allowed legal advice. For this reason some of their friends are complaining, saying that they are not being given a square deal.

Subsequently the forms of a civil marriage were gone thru at a registry office.

The Useful Lesson.

We make life's journey picking up Experience for later use,
Extracting nuggets here and there
And finding fragments lying loose.
Some things we very early learn,
And some it takes us long to win.
About the latest we absorb
The foolishness of butting in.

It seems a little thing to do
To set a man and brother right,
To point the error of his way
And lead him gently to the light.
He would be grateful for the aid
Forever after, you'd suppose,
But you are lucky to escape
Without a bruised and battered nose.

Suppose you see a man and wife
Mixed in a fierce, heartrending fight.
A strong temptation you may feel
To go and try to set them right.
Although for mercy he may cry,
Though for assistance she may shout,
Congratulate yourself when you
Can pass and let them scrap it out.

That little business of your own
Is quite enough for you to mind.
To other folk's affairs you can Afford to be both deaf and blind.
'Tis thus you keep your face intact,
Your head from learning how to spin.
So jog along your narrow track
And do not be a butler in.

ENEMY ARRIVES

Mr. Travers Jerome ready to Fight Thaw.

New York Lawyer Who might Millionaire Slayer of Clifford White in All the Big Trials of the Famous Case, Arrives in Sherbrooke—Roger O'Mara, the Detective, on His Way to Aid Prisoner.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 25.—(Press.)—The arrival of Wm. Travers Jerome, Harry Kendall's old prosecutor, the assumption of Ex-Gov. Wm. A. Stone of Canada of the position of counsel here for the Thaw family, the coming of Roger O'Mara, the detective, and the introduction into the case of renewed talk, assuming international aspects, the chief developments of the case since Stanford's slayer fled from Mattoon, Ill., he succeeded in concealing himself from all who visited him in jail. Again, he spoke of Jerome's calling him "Willie" and that his lawyer reissue a copy of Jerome's remarks made when he said that no one had intended Thaw was insane. The lighter incidents of a day of excitement—exciting principally because of what might happen—was a show of temper over the fact that breakfast was ten minutes late and his continued erratic state relative to plans for the public campaign which he regards as important than any legal aspect of the case. The possibility of an international case came from ex-Gov. Stone, who raised the point that the United States, in the Dominican immigration law regulation, would doubtless have a right to take the case to the courts. Thaw, it has been said, would have no such privilege. The opportunity to appeal should be ordered deported, except to the court of the interior at Ottawa. Mr. Jerome regarded this as contrary to the treaty between Great Britain and the United States guaranteeing to American citizens before Canadian courts the same rights as Canadians. "In my opinion," said Mr. Stone, "the case will be deep in Sherbrooke before it leaves Canadian soil."

Of the contingent of Thaw's lawyers would commit themselves to whether they shared Mr. Jerome's views. All of them con-

WILL NOT INTERFERE

Wilson Will Leave Mexico Alone for the Present.

The U.S. Senatorial Committee on Foreign Relations Confers With the President and is Told the Plans of the Administration—Proposes to Enforce Neutrality More Strictly.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—President Wilson tonight took the senate committee on foreign relations and the house committee on foreign affairs into his confidence, and to the members made known the history of the administration's handling of the Mexican problem, including the president's efforts to bring about peace in the southern republic.

The president read to the congressional conference the message he will deliver to congress tomorrow unless some word is received from Mexico City between now and the hour set for the reading of the message, 3 p.m. tomorrow. There is no hope of Huerta changing, said a message received at midnight. In addition to the message outlining all that has been done, the president read to the members the note which Commissioner of Mediation John Lind presented to Huerta, and which contained the president's four proposals for settling the war, and the reply to that note by President Huerta.

In his message the president advised a policy of non-interference on the part of the United States for the immediate future in dealing with the Mexican problem. He pointed out that this, it appeared to him, was the most sensible course to pursue.

He does not advocate the lifting of the embargo against the revolutionists in Mexico obtaining arms and ammunition in the United States. To the contrary, he advised an enforcement of all neutrality laws permitting no faction to obtain munitions of war in the United States.

In the discussion of the message and the two notes the president indicated how serious a problem the Mexican situation is, and said the question should be treated seriously by both the executive and congress.

The congressional advisers were made acquainted with the whole situation. They were informed as to what pressure was being brought to bear on Huerta by England, France and Japan, and of financial condition, both regarding provisional government and the revolutionists. This latter picture which the president drew was not encouraging so far as the belligerents were concerned. It showed a depleted treasury in Mexico City, and the revolutionists in equally as bad a condition.

The president did not monopolize the evening with his message or the expression of his views. From each of the congressmen present the president obtained an expression. A poll of the visitors showed that all agreed with the president's view in regard to the treatment of the problem. All endorsed the policy he had pursued in the past, including his sending Commissioner John Lind to Mexico City.

As the matter stands at this hour, the two committees in congress which will have to be the president's steering wheel there, are fully acquainted with the whole story of the present revolution, and what has been done by the administration to prevent a clash between the United States and Mexico, and to bring about the peace of that country.

Owing to the president's wish to keep the question open to the last minute—until the hour he reads his message—the congressional visitors were pledged to secrecy. After the

BIG CROP ASSURED.

One Week of Fine Weather All That is Needed.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—One more week of present weather and the crop will be a bumper one in the richest part of the wheat belt, was the opinion expressed by A. E. Rosevear, general freight agent of the G.T.P.

Representatives of different governments in the clearing shed are all optimistic in regard to prospects, and entirely satisfied with the quality and number of men allotted to each province. The demand from Saskatchewan is being fairly met and farmers of Manitoba have all the help they require in the meantime.

The Manitoba distribution has been fairly even all over the province, and there are no urgent demands at clearing headquarters for more men, although more men could readily be absorbed if they were on the spot to send out. The C.P.R. sent out two special trains this morning, one to Regina district, and the other to Deloraine, with about 1000 of the later arrivals.

The general condition of special harvester help at present is, that there will be yet required about 8000 men in the Province of Saskatchewan, and that Manitoba will receive all the help required immediately.

Outlook in Saskatchewan.

SASKATOON, Sask., Aug. 25.—(Special.)—Comparative calm once more reigns in immigration shed for distribution, and clearing of eastern harvesters. Seven thousand men, who came west with the great week-end influx, have been sent to their destinations on the farms of three provinces, and the demand for help is not at present insistent.

Another rush of laborers, which will number approximately 4000, will be on Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

If the weather does not take a turn for the worse immediately, the crop at most points is in fair way to safety, according to the statements of officials today.

CO-OPERATION THE CURE.

Earl Grey Advances it as Remedy for Trust Evil.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press.)—Co-operation as the basis of the ideal state of the future was the keynote of the address of Earl Grey, former governor-general of Canada, at the opening of the congress of the International Co-operative Alliance here today. Co-operation would put a barrier against the tyranny of the trusts, he said, and would reconcile the warring forces of labor and capital.

Six hundred delegates were present, representing 20,000,000 members of co-operative societies in America and Europe, and Earl Grey's views, enunciated with much fervor, were warmly applauded.

He declared that the application of the co-operative principle to the industrial life of Great Britain, the United States, France, Germany, Denmark and Ireland was proved by the substitution of organized distribution for unorganized distribution, co-operative buying for individual buying, co-operative transportation and marketing for industrial selling, and the co-operative use of power for individual use of machinery. The wants of both producer and consumer could thereby be met more effectively at a smaller cost.

In the civilized world, the remarkable growth of the co-operative movement justified the confident expectation that a day of new social order was at hand.

"Although the delegates," continued Earl Grey, "might be separated by differences of race, language and religion, they had met as one people under the flag of co-operative fraternity, carrying in their hearts the same motto: 'Each for all and all for each.'"

"All who had in their hearts the well-being of their fellowmen," he urged, "should do their utmost to promote

Appendix Taken From Babe. CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The youngest person ever operated on for appendicitis, according to physicians here, is Robert Searzino, 11 months old, who had his appendix removed this afternoon at the American Hospital here. The child is said to be sustaining the shock of the operation well, and physicians at the hospital assert that he probably will recover. The operation was performed by Dr. Max Thorek, chief of staff of the American Hospital, assisted by Dr. Marco Furino, the Searzino family physician. Nine minutes were required to perform the operation, and it less than half an hour the infant was out from under the influence of the anesthetic and able to recognize his mother, who stood beside the cot on which the baby patient lay.

Owing to the president's wish to keep the question open to the last minute—until the hour he reads his message—the congressional visitors were pledged to secrecy. After the conference the president made it known that the matter must be treated somewhat confidential until hope had been abandoned. This hope will not be abandoned until he starts for the capitol, which will be about 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Envoy Lind to Return.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press).—President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, will leave the Mexican capital tomorrow, proceeding to Vera Cruz.

Mr. Lind called on Foreign Minister Gamboa today to say good-bye, but there was nothing in their conversation regarding the resumption of negotiations or to indicate that Mexico would recede from her position.

Mr. Lind will sail from Vera Cruz at an early date, presumably on a battleship. It is expected that William Bayard Hale, who has been in Mexico City in an official capacity, will accompany Mr. Lind, or leave soon afterward.

Rumors persist that Gen. Trevino, who has been summoned to the capital, will become provisional president, but confirmation is lacking, and this report is offset by another that Gen. Huerta has called in most of the retired officers and many of those on detached service to report for duty.

Gen. Felix Diaz, who is on his way to Japan as special Mexican ambassador, is also said to have received a summons to return to the capital.

Besides the rulers, who thus meet for the second time this year, the little Town of Kelheim, of only 4000 inhabitants, is entertaining 70,000 visitors, who have traveled here over the single track railroad or in automobiles from all parts of Germany.

Five infantry regiments, two squadrons of cavalry, two sections of artillery and proportionate strength of the army service corps, engineers, guides and bearers, started out from the east and west in opposing forces this evening, to meet later in the week in combat some where near Mount Brydges. The "blues" are the attacking forces and the "reds" repel the invaders.

The island is also famous for its splendid pineapples.

MILITANTS TAKE REST.

Mrs. Pankhurst Thought to Have Declared a Truce.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press).—Rumors which have been current of a truce between the militant suffragettes and the British Government seem to find support in a letter written today by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the suffragette leader, to her followers, advising them to take a holiday for the present. She says:

"I am gathering up strength for a renewed battle when the holiday season is over. I hope that every one of you also will take advantage of the present lull in political activity to take the rest and change you have all so richly deserved."

Another indication that an agreement has been reached is the cessation by the authorities of the enforcement of the provisions of the "cat-and-mouse" act. Out of forty-three suffragettes sentenced to imprisonment for various offences, only one is now in jail. Most of the rest of them are following their ordinary avocations, and no attempt is made to re-arrest them.

It is widely believed that Mrs. Pankhurst has at last agreed to a truce in order to strengthen the hands of those members of the British cabinet who are working to make the enfranchisement of women a government measure.

Youth and Girl at Los Angeles Commit Suicide.

ROCKLAND, Maine, Aug. 25.—A suicide pact, for which no motive can be ascribed by the parents or friends of the couple, brought swift end yesterday to a high school romance, which was to have resulted a few week hence wedding bells. The victims of the tragedy are Carl Wilbur Perry and Angelyn T. Spear, both of whom are descendants of the city's oldest and most influential families. Perry is 20 and a son of Benjamin C. Perry, a retired lime merchant. Miss Spear is 19, and the daughter of Mrs. Alice Spear.

The young couple left home yesterday forenoon for a motor boat trip among the islands. With the coming of dusk and no word from them, the parents began to suspect an elopement. When this morning brought no tidings the matter was placed in the hands of the police.

The fish was twelve feet in length, with a sword four feet long and seven inches wide at the base.

MORIBUND.

During the election campaign of August, 1911, St. Hyacinthe, Que., earned an unenviable notoriety, when for the first time the Nationalist party at a joint meeting of some 25,000 people showed their full strength, although they did not then admit their hand refusing to adopt this same principle so that they could use Highways money for political advantage; The Liberal Senators prevented Mr. Borden from sending $35,000,000 of naval tribute to England, instead of carrying out the Canadian naval policy, unless he secured a mandate from the people. The Liberals in parliament ventilated such scandals as the Prince Albert Homestead Deal, the Macdonald by-election iniquity, the Coderre impersonation charges, the efforts of the Tory government to corrupt the Richelieu electors with promises of a railway, despite the efforts of the Government to hide the records and many other similar affairs.

Mr. Borden and his government are not masters of the country and never will be. The Opposition is an integral part of the parliamentary system and the present Liberal Opposition is altogether too strong for the government to attempt to carry its Tory ideas too far.

LAURIER AND LIBERTY.

"Gentlemen of this city, of all the Province of Quebec, nay the electors of the whole Dominion of Canada, I am a British subject. I am satisfied with that condition. We are free and when we are free we have no need of anything further. But this attempt to put Canada in the position of a contributor to the British Treasury for naval purposes is a direct attack on our liberty.

"The cause of liberty is not a question of race. It is not English and it is not French. It is larger than that. It is the cause of humanity. Our idea of conciliation has been that all races and faiths in Canada must receive equal treatment, and in the following out of that idea we have given fifteen years of prosperity to Canada. Gentlemen, judgment has been passed of the present government. It is for you to pronounce the verdict."

INSECT ANAESTHETICS.

Wasps and Beetles Paralyze Their Victims Before Killing.

That the sting of the wasp, which punctures the nerve centers of a captured caterpillar or spider, usually paralyzes the creature into helplessness rather than kills it is well known. The victim remains alive in the burrow or cell in which the wasp stores it as food for the larva which will emerge from the egg laid in the same cell. Therefore the newly hatched grub finds ready for it a provision of living meat instead of decayed carrion.

That "wizard" among entomologists, the venerable Fabre, has discovered a similar yet even more extraordinary fact in the history of the glowworm beetle (lampyris)—namely, that it anaesthetizes the prey upon which it itself feeds, so that it may consume it at leisure and predigested. This beetle, whose brilliant phosphorescence attracts the eye in the dusk of the summer evenings, habitually hunts and seizes upon a certain small snail in order to eat it.

The curious thing is that the beetle anaesthetizes the mollusk at the first attack, preventing it from escaping by withdrawing to safety deep within its shell. Upon finding the snail the beetle dashes forward and, thrusting out its sharp, curved mandibles, repeatedly stabs the side of the body of its prey. After a few punctures the snail becomes insensible and remains in that deadened state for three or four hours—a time more than sufficient for the beetle to complete its meal.—Independent.

During the election campaign of August, 1911, St. Hyacinthe, Que., earned an unenviable notoriety, when for the first time the Nationalist party at a joint meeting of some 25,000 people showed their full strength, although they did not then admit their hand and gave alliance with the Tory party. Now in August, 1913, St. Hyacinthe has redeemed itself and given unmistakable assurance that Quebec province has recovered from the Nationalist fever and returned to Laurier and political health.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was met there by over 10,000 of his compatriots, although there were probably a number of English speaking citizens in attendance. His speech, fired with all his old time eloquence, bore one steadfast message, that of unwavering devotion to the cause of Liberalism—the cause of the people—of loyalty to the Empire and to Canada. It did more. Sir Wilfrid made it plain that defeat had neither curbed his spirit nor changed his ideas of what was best for his country. It showed that the Liberal Chieftain was no mere opportunist as the Tories have tried to represent him. Sturdily Sir Wilfrid repeated his plea that it was Canada's duty to build local fleet units as her share in Imperial defence; as unflinchingly he repeated his argument that Canada should have freer trade relations with the United States and that the rejection of the reciprocity pact was a bad thing for western Canada. He unmercifully flayed the Nationalists who had twice betrayed their trust, and concluded, as did Sir John A. Macdonald in 1891, with the proud declaration that he was a British citizen and desired no more.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has not changed with changing political fortunes. The Liberal party behind him has not changed. The province of Quebec has not changed, save that the schism of 1911 has healed. The St. Hyacinthe meeting made it clear that when the time should come for the vote, the people of Quebec province would be found as they have been for so many years past, faithful to the principles of Liberalism and loyal to Laurier as their greatest exponent. The result of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's meetings in Quebec, coupled with his triumphant tour of Ontario last Autumn should hearten all Canadian Liberals to prepare for the coming victory.

OPPOSITION TOO STRONG.

TORIES NOT YET MASTERS OF CANADA.

Hon. Mr. Hazen, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, a few days ago at a Vancouver banquet exactly outlined the Tory ideal of popular government when he declared—"We are masters of the situation, and we intend to hold that position." Of course by the "situation," Mr. Hazen meant Canada.

Despite his boast that the Borden government is master of the country the records of parliament do not altogether bear out this idea. The Liberals in the House of Commons forced the unwilling government to adopt the principle of dividing the money for Agricultural Aid amongst the provinces according to population; The Liberals in the Senate prevented the passage of the Highways Aid Bill because the government insisted upon part of the parliamentary system and the present Liberal Opposition is altogether too strong for the government to attempt to carry its Tory ideas too far.

COL. HUGHES' LATEST.

PERSISTS IN EXPLOITING GEN. SIR IAN HAMILTON AS TORY EXHIBIT.

Col. Hon. Sam Hughes is milestone in his career as Minister of Militia with a string of "blazing indiscretions." His latest exploit is characteristic of the Colonel. As Minister of Militia he brought to Canada a distinguished English soldier, Gen. Sir Ian Hamilton, who, as Inspector-general of Overseas forces, made a tour of Canada with Col. Hughes and the latter's customary "brilliant staff."

In a remarkably brief time, Gen. Hamilton sent in his report, which contained some very important recommendations, looking toward a system of universal training and enrolment for Canada.

Did Col. Hughes, Minister of Militia, study this report, and then in the ordinary course present it to the government and people through parliament? Not at all. Nothing so humdrum as that for him. He immediately got in touch with his press agents and the report was next day published throughout the country—published only in the Tory press.

Is Col. Hughes obsessed with the idea that only Tories are entitled to learn what condition the Canadian militia is in, and what might be done to put it on an immediate fighting basis? Has he forgotten that when he made himself known in South Africa it was the Liberal government which sent the Canadian contingents?

Winston Churchill once said that a warship was obsolescent before it was finished, and that while it was being built the ship to destroy it was also under way. Every move of the present government shows that it also is obsolescent and that the forces to destroy it are only awaiting the election which the Tories so much dread.

AN UNPROFITABLE TRIP.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster returned on August 20th from his tour as the Commercial traveller of the Dominion. He started this trip on February 19th, when he left for Australia. During his journey he has visited New Zealand, Australia, China, Japan, and has stopped off at various other places. Mr. Foster's six months journeying cannot be said to have resulted in much benefit to Canada. It has not widened our markets one inch. Mr. Foster has brought back no orders. The only apparent result of his long and expensive journey is a "prospect" from Australia. Possibly at some future time the Australians may agree to a mutual preference with Canada. As the Dominion's commercial traveller Hon. Geo. E. Foster can hardly be called a success. Undoubtedly, however, like Hon. Mr. Crothers, he has enjoyed a magnificent trip with a big expense account for the Dominion to pay.

The Lost Boy.

Little Jack was lost, could not be found. All the family looked around. They searched the attic, the cellar and shed, Under each chair and under each bed.

They called the neighbors; they rang the bell; They looked in the cistern and down in the well.

Alas, he was gone, that bright little boy—The pet of the house, their pride and their joy.

His mother looked frightened, and then she cried. And all the friends were sad and sighed. At last they heard a funny snore Right in the pantry behind the door. They all gave a jump and then a peep. And there sat Jack, sound, sound asleep. —Clara E. Detwiler.

some time ago the kaiser heard that a captain in one of the guards regiments at Potsdam had fixed the regulation hour of schooling for his men at 6 o'clock in the morning. The kaiser, though doubting the fitness of such an early hour for the lesson and the ability of a popular young officer to keep up to this rather exacting standard of early rising, said nothing, but one day walked into the barrack room at 6 o'clock.

The captain was not there, but the emperor showed neither annoyance nor surprise. He asked where the lesson was to be found in the books, and without more ado, to the mingled anxiety and delight of the men, he took the lesson in hand and explained the passage in history which was the subject of the day. It was nearly 7 o'clock when the captain showed himself. The kaiser returned his salute and made no allusion to his crestfallen countenance, but handed him the lesson book after pointing out how far the class had got and then left the room.

Nothing more was said or heard about the incident until a few days later, when the captain received a handsome alarm clock, evidently from the kaiser. What the officer wrote in his letter of thanks for the gift is not recorded—"Ireland's Own."

Keelmen of Newcastle.

The Newcastle barges claim a place in English song, for they are the inspirers of that ancient ditty "Weel May the Keel Row." According to A. G. Bradley, "it is a very old Newcastle air, and the keel, a local coal barge which has been used from earliest times to convey the coal from wagons to the vessel, the word being, I believe, the old Saxon equivalent for ship or boat. The keelmen of Newcastle were a distinct body of men, and their boats were constructed to measure, like the wagons, for the convenience of the customs and the trade generally."—London Chronicle.

And When That Is Lost the A Should Fly No More.

He who flies constantly must one personal risk, which according to the characteristics individual. This is the danger may incur by becoming a little less while in the air. There possibility, in fact, that far may breed not actual content a temporary relaxation of vigilance and piloting an aeroplane need watchfulness, such minute probability that any "staleness" on the part of the man at the wheel or lever presents a peril that is very real.

The pilot who flies a great should remind himself constantly there is no room for error in handling of aircraft.

A loss of confidence not difficult understand is suffered by an aviator sometimes after he has been the victim of a serious fall, and in similar circumstances a jockey, or, say, a motorist, may be robbed of his nerve. When a pilot does lose judgment the outcome of a bad mishap the wisest course is to cease to fly. A broken nerve he is a menace to himself and to others as well. —Graham White in National Review.

For the Earache.

"I am afraid I have greatly benefited with my own practice," celebrated aurist, "by giving the following advice to many of my patients. At the first symptoms of earache the patient lie on the bed with the painful ear uppermost. Fold a towel and tuck it around the head then with a teaspoon fill the ear with warm water. Continue doing it fifteen or twenty minutes. The water will fill the ear orifice and flow out the towel. Afterward turn the head, let the water run out at the ear with warm glycerin oil. This may be done every hour until relief is obtained. It is an almost reliable cure and has saved many of acute inflammation. The ear should be quite warm, but not too hot.—Family Doctor.

EVERY man has plenty of friends who can tell him just where he made his mistake, but the friend who can and will give him a straight tip is more rare than fresh water pearls.

Paddle your own canoe, but don't let a large pink idiot rock it.

Continual pegging away and going without sleep is the price of three square meals a day.

The end sent hog is the only one of his species that hasn't a market value.

Many, alas, too many, cooks spoil the broth.

The Ancient Pest.

On the level, it is high time
We arose and cut out fly time,
And I hope 'twill be in my time
That the awful blow will fall
On the pesky little sinner
Who bores in and takes his dinner
On the fatter and the thinner
As he makes an evening call.

Very truly it is awful
That the creature should be lawful,
I have often got my craw full
When I stretched to take a nap.
On my pate, rotund and glassy,
Though admitted to be classy,
Trailed the little varmint sassy
And then deftly dodged a slap.

We are told by doctors skillful
That he carries round a bill full
Of the kind of germs that kill full
Many a man before his time.
All too long with him we trifle,
We should get the family rifle
And with lead should fill him high full,
Ending thus his life of crime.

Sending a Substitute.

"I heard a man planning to break into your house tonight."

"Good. Let him alone."

"But he is a burglar."

"I don't care what he is. He will get there about the time I usually arrive in the morning, and never fear but what my wife will tend to him."

How Could He?

"She says her husband won't listen to reason."

"Well, he won't."

"He must be fierce."

"Meek as Moses."

"Then why won't he?"

"There isn't any wisdom at home to listen to."

Marine Monsters That Are Known as Whale Killers.

There really is such a sea monster as the whale killer. It is one of the largest and most ferocious of all the dolphin family. It also is known as the grampus. It is characterized as a genus by its large size and the conical and depressed head, devoid of a beak. The back fin is of great length, especially in the males, and the flippers are large and broadly ovate.

The teeth are comparatively few in number, varying from ten to thirteen on each side of the jaw, and are much larger than in any dolphins yet noticed, being often an inch or more in diameter and having an oval section. The coloration is striking, the upper parts and fins being black, while the lower jaw, chest and under parts are whitish.

The white area of the under parts does not, however, extend to the flukes, but ends posteriorly in a trident, of which the lateral and shorter prongs extend obliquely upward on the flanks. There is a large white streak above and behind the eye, and frequently at least a purple crescentic area extends across the back behind the fin. The

LOBSTER AND BUTTERFLY.

Widely Apart In Appearance, They Are Close Relatives.

You would hardly think it to look at them, yet the lobster is a relative of the butterfly. The kinship is not merely that of two members of the animal kingdom. The lobster and the butterfly are actually in one and the same great group of the kingdom, like the clam and the snail or the whale and the giraffe, whose spheres of activity are so widely separated.

It is simply, as Darwin pointed out in the case of all other creatures a great many years ago, that the lobster and its friends, the crab, the prawn and the shrimp, chose one method of life, while the butterfly and its set chose another.

So the first group developed characteristics suited to the conditions in which it lived, including as one of the most important, as its members do not move rapidly, a coat of armor to protect them from their innumerable enemies, while the butterflies and the great host of other winged insects shed every bit of superfluous weight, trusting to swiftness to carry them out of danger and to protective coloring to conceal them when flight is un-availing.—London Family Herald.

When Dead Men Ate.

In the medical press is a story of a man who believed that he was dead and who for that reason refused to take nourishment. "How can the dead eat and drink?" he asked when food was pressed upon him. It was obvious that unless something were done to bring him to his senses the delusion must soon become actuality—he would die of starvation. The strangest ruse was tried. Half a dozen attendants, draped in ghostly white, crept silently in single file into the room adjoining his and with the door open sat down where he could see them at a hearty meal. "Here, who are these people?" inquired the patient. "Dead men," answered the doctor. "What?" said the other. "Do dead men eat?" "To be sure they do, as you see for yourself," was the answer. "Well," said the corpse, "if that is so I'll join them, for I'm starving." The spell was broken, and he sat down and ate like forty famished men.

FARCIAL LAW ENFORCEMENT

Does the Whitney Government enforce license laws? They say they do and always take great credit to themselves for this enforcement. Let us examine in answer to the question one set of facts.

In Toronto recently the wine clerks of seven R. & O. boats were fined $200.00 apiece for selling liquor without a license. If this had been the first offence there would not be so much ground for criticism, but the truth is that steamers running out of Toronto have been fined regularly for the same offence since 1907. This point was brought up by Mr. N. W. Rowell and the Opposition last session. They asked for an official return showing the fines levied and this report revealed the fact that a long list of steamers had been selling liquor without a license for years. Each season the wine clerks are fined and practice goes on. It is interesting to note that the fines have almost quadrupled in amount. In 1907 they averaged about $65. They are now assessed at a flat rate of $200.00.

Such a method of dealing with an illegal sale of liquor is farcical on the face of it. It is a glaring case of non-enforcement of the license laws. These boats, to all intents and purposes, are licensed, and that, too, illegally, but it is done by the underhand method of yearly fines.

EAST YORK.

It is persistently rumoured that Alex McCowan M. P. P. for East York is to be appointed Sheriff of York County. In this case there will be a bye-election in the Constituency. It is believed that the writs will be issued without delay and that the election will be held at an early date.

That the Liberal party after a temporary reverse can "come back" has been proved conclusively by the candidature of Albert Chamberlain for the Legislature in East York. There never was a more enthusiastic convention than that held by the Liberals in Markham last Saturday and the whole tone of the meeting was aggressiveness and optimism.

The Conservatives, quite without reason, have sometimes labelled the Liberal party as insincere. Their refutation is now complete. In spite of a large majority against them in this Constituency in 1911, here are the Liberals again fighting more strongly than ever for the policies on which the party stands—Abolish the Bar, Tax Reform, Workmen's Compensation, advances in Agriculture and other issues.

Mr. Chamberlain is an outspoken and lifelong advocate of temperance reform and is an ardent and enthusiastic supporter of Mr. Rowell and the whole program of the Liberal party.

POTATO CANKER DANG

Potato Canker should not be ed to gain a foothold in Canada is a disease that makes slow progress but where once broken out it is difficult every known means of cure. With the approach of the harvest all growers are particularly requested to examine their potatoes for signs of canker. A case of canker escaping detection is a source of future infection.

The appearance of this disease been well illustrated by the F Circular No. 3, obtainable free of charge from the Publication Office of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Potato Canker owing to its serious nature has been made a certain legislative measure the Dominion Destructive Insect Pest Act. In order to familiarize farmers with the requirements of the Act their attention is called to following extracts, and other information concerning the necessary steps to be taken in case potato canker is covered in any locality.

(1) On discovery of any sign of potato canker farmers should immediately notify the Dominion Agricultural Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the outbreak, at the same time a specimen, when an analysis will be sent to assist and advise farmer as regards the treatment given.

(2) Unless prompt action is taken and the authorities are notified out delay the whole crop of potatoes whether "apparently" sound diseased is liable to destruction.

"The Destructive Insect and Act," Regulations 7 and 8 read: (7) If, on inspection, nursery, or other vegetation or vegetable matter is found to be infected by any of the insects, pests or diseases hereinafter specified, it should be destroyed to the extent necessary by the inspector and presence. All cases, package packing in which such stock is contained shall also be destroyed in the same manner.

(8) Any inspector entering lands, nursery or other place where there is reason to believe any of the insects, pests or diseases hereinafter specified are or may be present, shall give instructions for treatment or destruction of any bush, crop or any vegetation or other matter or the containers in which may be found or suspected to be infested with any of the insects or diseases hereinafter specified and such instructions shall be carried out by the owner or lessee of the infected or suspected vegetation, or matter, or containers and such remedial treatment shall be carried out and continued until the insect, pest or disease shall be destroyed by the inspector to have been terminated.

(3) Cut off and burn all potato stalks without removing the infested area.

(4) Dig at once all potatoes on farm, carefully hand pick them those already dug, and separate diseased tubers from those "apparently" or perfectly sound.

(5) Place the diseased tubers in a pile and cover with earth. The inspector will advise you regarding disposal.

(6) All perfectly or "apparently" sound tubers may be stored in the usual way, but none must be used for any purpose whatsoever until the inspector has given permission.

(7) Allow no tubers to remain in the ground, nor any animal to have access to an infected field. The organism causing the disease is liable to be spread through the excreta of a having eaten infected potatoes in a raw condition.

STORIES AND THE DRAMA.

Harder Work to Write a Novel Than to Construct a Play.

One reason why a play is easier to write than a novel is that a play is shorter than a novel. On the average one may say that it takes six plays to make the matter of a novel. Other things being equal, a short work of art presents fewer difficulties than a longer
one. The contrary is held true by the majority, but then the majority, having never attempted to produce a long work of art, are unqualified to offer an opinion.

It is said that the most difficult form of poetry is the sonnet. But the most difficult form of poetry is the epic. The proof that the sonnet is the most difficult form is alleged to be in the fewness of perfect sonnets. There are, however, few more perfect sonnets than perfect epics. A perfect sonnet may be a heavenly accident. But such accidents can never happen to writers of epics.

Some years ago we had an enormous palaver about the "art of the short story," which numerous persons who had omitted to write novels pronounced to be more difficult than the novel.
But the fact remains that there are scores of perfect short stories, whereas it is doubtful whether anybody but Turgenev ever did write a perfect novel.

A short form is easier to manipulate than a long form because its construction is less complicated, because the balance of its proportions can be more easily corrected by means of a rapid survey, because it is lawful and even necessary in it to leave undone many things which are very hard to do and because the emotional strain is less prolonged. The most difficult thing in all art is to maintain the imaginative tension unslackened throughout a considerable period.—Metropolitan Magazine.

ATO CANKER DANGER.

Canker should not be allowed to get a foothold in Canada. It is a disease that makes slow progress and is once broken out it has no known means of control. The approach of the potato all growers are particularly anxious to examine their potatoes for canker. A case of potato canker, escaping detection forms a danger of future infection.

Appearance of this disease has been illustrated by the Farmers' Bulletin No. 3, obtainable free of charge from the Publication Branch, Department of Agriculture. Potato Canker owing to its nature has been made subject of legislative measures under the Insect and Plant Diseases Act. In order to familiarize the grower with the requirements of the act, attention is called to the various extracts, and other information concerning the necessary steps to be taken in case potato canker is discovered in any locality.

Discovery of any signs of canker farmers should immediately notify the Dominion Botanical Experimental Farm, Ottawa, of the discovery, at the same time submitting a specimen, when an inspector will be sent to assist and advise the grower regarding the treatment to be taken.

Immediate action is taken by the authorities are notified with a view to the whole crop of potatoes, "apparently" sound or liable to destruction under the Insect and Plant Diseases Act, sections 7 and 8 reading:

On inspection, nursery stock or vegetable found to be infected with insects, pests or diseases specified, it shall be deemed by the inspector and in his report, packages and in which such stock has been found shall also be destroyed in any manner.

Any inspector entering any nursery or other premises where it is reason to believe that insects, pests or diseases specified are or may be found shall give instructions for the destruction of any tree, bush or any vegetation or vegetable or the containers thereof, may be found or suspected to be infected with any of the insects, diseases hereinafter specified, instructions shall be carried out by the owner or lessee of the infected vegetation, vegetable, or containers thereof, remedial treatment shall be carried out and continued until the inspector to have been executed.

Off and burn all potato tops without removing them from the field area. At once all potatoes on your property hand pick them and destroy, and separate the tubers from those "apparently" sound.

Remove the diseased tubers in a cover with earth. The inspector will advise you regarding their disposal.

Persons perfectly or "apparently" sound may be stored in the field, but none must be used for seed whatsoever until the inspector gives permission.

No tubers to remain in the field or any animal to have access to the infected field. The organism of the disease is liable to be carried by the excreta of animals on infected potatoes in a field.

CANADIAN COMPOSERS.

Many Fine Works Have Been Written in Toronto.

How do composers actually compose? This is a question which the layman often propounds to the musician. The burgeoning of the tonal creation would seem to be a process fraught with mystery. Does the tone-poet remain raptly poised with hand-clasping brow until the partitioning of the musical thought is accomplished, or does he monkey away at the keyboard, alternately thumping and tickling the ivories until he gets a tune rounded up?

Well, it all depends. Probably the most prolific amongst Ontario composers are Mr. David Dick Slater and Dr. Edward Broome, of Toronto. Mr. Slater has a large number of songs, anthems, and piano pieces upon the market, some of which are published under his own name, and others issued under the nom de plumes of "Kenneth Rae," "Paul Ambrose," and "Erland Hunt." Dr. Broome has over sixty published compositions, including vocal solos, part songs, and anthems. He is also responsible for a very effective cantata, entitled "Hymn of Trust," for chorus, tenor solo, and orchestra, and published by Schirmer, of New York.

Mr. Henry J. Lantz is the author of a number of graceful songs of artistic character, which have seen the light of day both here and in the publishing offices of Germany. His "Grave of the Nameless" and "The Last Journey" are typical of the refined style which he has acquired under the guidance of Arnold Mendelssohn, of Darmstadt, his teacher.

Dr. A. S. Vogt's busy life has not permitted much compositional effort, but here, as in everything else which he touches, the hand of the master is felt, and his few published compositions for choir use evidence the highest skill in the treatment of the vocal possibilities, as well as a charming and polished musical style. His chant-setting of "The Lord's Prayer" has met with a tremendous sale, and his women's chorus, "An Indian Lullaby," and the part-song, "The Sea," have found a great deal of favor. A rather unique example of Dr. Vogt's activity is his book on "Pianoforte Technique," which has sold largely both in Canada and the United States.

Dr. Albert Hamm is on the list with a "Lullaby" for low voice, sung most effectively by Miss Margaret Keyes; and his unaccompanied anthem, "Far From My Heavenly Home," is a popular one with church choirs. Other vocal works stand to Dr. Hamm's credit, such as his attractive part-songs for women's voices, "The Twilight Hour" and "Blow, Soft Wind."

The number of those who are writing piano music is small. Mr. Edmund Hardy has produced a little tone-poem, "To Daffodils," which has found a wide sale, and his waltz entitled "Gathering Rosebuds" is a very pleasing number. A Christmas anthem of Mr. Hardy's, "The Infant Redeemer," has reached its third edition, and he has also a baritone solo, "The Song of the Reaper," dedicated to and sung by Mr. David Bispham.

Mr. W. O. Forsyth has written a number of piano pieces of serious purpose and inviting style, among which might be instanced the number entitled "By the Sea." A graceful song of Mr. Forsyth's is called "Love Took Me Softly By the Hand," and is published by Nordheimer's.

Mr. Frank E. Blachford is also known as the composer of some very effective music for the violin, and he has also turned his hand to the production of vocal works, one of which was most delightfully rendered by the Toronto Male Chorus Club, when it existed under Mr. J. D. A. Tripp's baton.

MANY FEELING AFTER THE LOVE OF GOD

"Lead, Kindly Light, Amid the Encircling Gloom."

Pastor Russell Thrills Believers and Skeptics By His Picture of the True God—The Pastor's Early Teaching of Hell—He Became A Skeptic—His Recovery of More Than He Had Lost.

PASTOR RUSSELL

London, August 24.—Pastor Russell addressed the London Tabernacle congregation today from the text, "God so loved the world that He gave His Only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him might not perish, but have everlasting life."—John 3:16.

The Pastor declared that the doctrine of total depravity is totally wrong. The likeness of God, which was perfect in Adam, still persists in Adam's children, sadly fallen though they be. Apparently none is so fallen as not to have some conception of His own debasement, and to feel worthy of punishment. In every human breast there is also a sentiment of pity, and correspondingly an appreciation of pity for others, and a feeling of the need of Divine pity.

Many Christians are benevolent, sympathetic, ready to help the unfortunate, to sing the songs of God's love, and to place before them texts telling of God's sympathy and pity.

But these helps are discounted by the great central thought—supported by all creeds—that God is angry with humanity, and busily engaged in sending nearly every member of our race to an eternity of torture—ninety thousand per day being the present schedule.

Creeds Drive Away From God

Then the Pastor showed that while the Christian forgets the atrocious misrepresentations given by the creeds, and remembers chiefly the loving words given by the Bible, the sinner's thoughts revert to the teaching that eternal torment is his doom. Anxious to forget God and the future, he escapes best from all religious thought in the bar-room, at the gaming table, and in general sin. He is miserable in the presence of the pure, and fears the Bible.

After quoting St. Paul's words, "The god of this world hath blinded the minds of those who believe not," the Pastor declared that Satan had introduced atrocious misrepresentations of God's character into the creeds of Christian people during the Dark Ages and that the blindness resulting from these "doctrines of demons" is found everywhere, even among believers. Few see anything respecting God and the everlasting future clearly; few can give a reason for their hope, as St. Peter urges.

Let us not forget, said Pastor Russell, that Satan has used Christian tongues and pen to blind the world. We owe it to ourselves, our families and the world in general to destroy these blasphemous misrepresentations of the Divine character and plan.

MARKET REPORTS

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Influential buying in the final hour turned a weak corn market into a strong one today, prices at the close showing a net advance of 1/4c to 1/2c. Wheat finished a shade to 1/4c higher, oats unchanged to 1/4c up, and provisions irregular, 7/16c lower to 5c higher. The uplift in corn came on reports of scarcity in various sections. Buffalo sold hardly a car of spot, corn was for sale there. Kansas points were said to be out of corn and using wheat for feed. Tennessee farmers reported that for the first time in the state's history, except after floods, the bottom lands have failed to make a corn crop. From Nebraska came reports of an expert that in the last three weeks the crop there had gone back 24 per cent., and that no relief was in sight.

The Liverpool market closed 1/4d to 1/2d lower on wheat and 1/4d higher on corn.

The supply of good to choice butchers' cattle was smaller than usual, and prices show an advance of 25 cents per cwt., as compared with a week ago. ### THREE WONDERFUL MIRRORS.

Used In Place of a Telescope In Mount Wilson Observatory.

From Los Angeles by trolley car and burro back up through the pine forests one reaches the Wilson observatory. No dome or gigantic telescope greets the visitor when he gains the summit. A huge Noah's ark of canvas destroys all preconceived ideas of what an observatory should look like, and within three wonderful mirrors take the place of the great tubular telescope of other observatories.

The observatory building is constructed of canvas, the sides being set in the form of tiers of steeply overlapping eaves. This arrangement is calculated to allow for perfect ventilation and is re-enforced by a vertical wall of canvas, which can be raised or lowered at will to obtain an even temperature.

The peculiar arrangement of mirrors that replaces the familiar telescope is the center around which all interest in the observatory revolves. These mirrors are constructed at the Yerkes observatory and are the finest products of the optician's manufacturing skill. The enlarging mirror, which is supported by a pier of stone at the farther end of the building, is of concave glass four inches thick, and the scientists tell us it is of twenty-four inch aperture by sixty foot focus.

The glass is polished ever so often with jewelers' rouge upon pads of chamols skin and is burnished every week or ten days, in order to remove all possible dust. In addition a galvanized cover is kept over it when it is not in use.—Christian Herald.

Frolics of Ivan the Terrible.

Ivan the Terrible, among his many insane freaks, would let loose wild bears in the streets of his capital and placidly say his prayers while watching the slaughter of his people, "fling a few coins to the mutilated survivors as he rose from his knees." He would compel parents to slay their children, and children to kill one another; and if there was a survivor "the amiable monarch would dispart him with his own hands, shrieking with laughter at so excellent a joke."

In one of his lighter moods of frolic he commanded the citizens of Moscow to "provide for him a measure full of peas for a medicine," and fined them 7,000 roubles when they failed.

future clearly; few can give a reason for their hope, as St. Peter urges.

Let us not forget, said Pastor Russell, that Satan has used Christian tongues and pen to blind the world. We owe it to ourselves, our families and the world in general to destroy these blasphemous misrepresentations of the Divine character and plan. Since our eyes are opening to see the situation, how can we be otherwise than indignant and jealous for the honor of our God and for the influence of His Truth amongst our fellowmen!

The Pastor's Personal Experience.

The Pastor then related his personal experience in learning to know God. The child of believing parents, he was indoctrinated along Calvinistic lines to believe that only the Elect would reach glory, and that the non-elect would be eternally tormented. He was accustomed to think of himself as one of the Elect, and to appreciate the love of God in providing for their salvation.

As a boy of seventeen, a member of the Y.M.C.A., he engaged in what was called Gospel preaching. Like the others, he pictured Hell and shook his hearers over it. Finally reason asserted itself. He stopped preaching and examined the creeds. He found the difference between them trivial; and that all taught the salvation of the few, and eternal torture for the remainder. Feeling sure that a real God could not have made such a plan, he threw away the creeds, and with them the Bible, believing it to be the basis of them all.

But having once known God as his Heavenly Father, his soul hungered for Divine love and care. After long study, he became convinced that the Creator whose Wisdom and Power are everywhere manifest must also be a God of Justice and Love. With the eyes of his understanding he saw the great God of the Universe. Then he began a search for God's Message to humanity. Having, as he supposed, sufficiently examined the Bible, he turned to heathen religions, only to find them less rational, though less fiendish than his own.

Finally he resolved to study the Bible afresh, with untrammelled mind. Gradually the Lord led him into clearer light, until he found that the basis of all our difficulty is our following Satan's lie—"Ye shall not surely die." Thenceforth the entire Bible became grand and harmonious. Now it stands pre-eminent before his mind as the Word of God. Realizing this, he uses his reason freely within the limits of its declarations, and knowledge of the true God has brought him untold blessings.

Sales were made at $5.75 to $6 per cwt. Sheep were unchanged. Demand for calves was good and the supply was small. A stronger feeling developed in the market for hogs. The demand from packers was good and an active trade was done.

G. T. R. Must Pay Share.

GUELPH, Aug. 25.—(Special).—The sewerage and public works commission sent in the bill this morning to the G. T. R. authorities at Toronto in connection with the building of the subways and the other work in which the railway shares the cost with the city. The railway's bill against the city was $9,456, against which the city has accounts amounting to somewhere about $13,000. The city has expended upwards of $22,000 in connection with the subways, so that debentures will have to be issued for between $17,000 and $18,000.

Electricians Join Strike.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(Can. Press).—A strike of house painters and decorators in London for increased wages, which was followed by the employment of non-unionist painters at the admiralty, has brought about a strike of electricians under the control of the office of public works in protest against the employment of "blacklegs." Among the electricians involved are those employed at Buckingham and St. James' palaces, colonial and foreign office, the Tower of London, the museums and general postoffice.

Frost in Guelph Township.

GUELPH, Aug. 25.—(Special).—Reports of frost last night in this district vary from severe to slight. Puslinch Township reports a comparatively slight frost, and no damage. Eramosa Township reports make the frost quite keen and fear for tomato vines, while in Guelph Township frost is said to have been quite severe. But outside of some early sweet corn nothing is supposed to have been nipped.

G.O.M. OF THE WEST

ANGUS MACKAY IS FRIEND OF THE WHEAT FARMERS.

Superintendent of the Experimental Farm at Indian Head Sask., Moved Into the West Before the Three Provinces Were Joined and Has Been on the Farm Ever Since—Popular in the West.

"I see from my house by the side of the road—

By the side of the highway of life,
The men who press with the ardor of hope,

The men who are faint with strife.
But I turn not away from their smiles
not their tears—

Both are parts of an infinite plan;
Let me live in the house by the side of
the road

And be a friend to man."

In the West the name of Angus Mackay is a household expression, because for twenty-six years he has meant friendship and counsel to the farmer of the plains says Norman Lambert in Toronto Globe. Mr. Mackay is the superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Indian Head, and he is the only superintendent that institution has ever had. More than that, he is the pioneer, the father, of agriculture in Western Canada. Saskatchewan is his Province now, and Saskatchewan people claim him as their Grand Old Man, but Mr. Mackay's field of influence knows no Provincial boundaries. He came into the West long before the three Prairie Provinces were formed, and he is known and remembered best, perhaps, for his work during the long, hard years prior to 1905. Early in July it was announced that Angus Mackay was being retired by the Government from the farm at Indian Head to take a better position, and from Manitoba to Alberta, from the boundary line to the northerly limits of the agricultural belt, this general word was spoken: "There is nothing too good in this world that they can do for him."

Angus Mackay came to the great Northwest in 1882. He was amongst the first contingent of settlers which came West from Ontario upon the opening of the C. P. R. to Manitoba.
The majority of the old Ontario immigrants at that time were taking land in the southern part of Manitoba, and in that district to-day, excepting the Mennonites, the sons and daughters of the pioneers in Bruce, Huron and Grey counties still comprise a large percentage of the population. Whether or not it was because Mr. Mackay and the three friends who accompanied him were not descendants of Huron, Grey or Bruce, or because they had a more canny genius for locating good soil, that they passed Manitoba by and proceeded to lands situated on the eastern threshold of the Northwest Territories is not known. But subsequent events would rather go to support the latter theory. At any rate, they were in the van of the first big trek of Ontario farmers to the West, and, like their Celtic forefathers amid the primitive and pioneer surroundings in Eastern Provinces in the early days, they have labored hard and well, and have set up standards of thoroughness which are just now beginning to prevail throughout the entire plains country.

The three men who came West with Angus Mackay in 'eighty-two were Williamson, Miller and Boon. They all hailed from Ontario County, Ontario, in the vicinity of Pickering. Mr.
Mackay, who was born in that lo-

Perhaps the most extraordi-that described by Thormanb seems incredible that such facts, which once again con-adage that truth is more v

Colonel Moore, who comma-darkness he endeavored to way home. Two or three had difficulty in making cross obstacles, and at last t

Colonel Moore was a fearle
Again and again he rode his

Colonel Moore says that di fore him. Suddenly there ca rific concussion, which depri of his senses and left him legs in the sea and his body

He must have lain there stu-

in midheaven, and its beams
the upturned, glittering shoe gallant horse, which lay d

As soon as he had collected

When the sun rose it shone

After lying in horrible pain

What This Sectional Firepot Means to You

These are some of the advantages of the Sunshine Furnace. Our agent will be pleased to show you others, or write for booklet.

The "Sunshine" has a straight-sided semi-steel firepot, extra heavily ribbed and made in two sections. The two sections allow for contraction and expansion—which prevents cracking. The heavy ribs and semi-steel give extra strength and added radiating surface. Ashes cannot adhere to the straight sides which assures an all-over clear fire. This means the greatest heat from the fuel consumed.

ards of thoroughness which are just now beginning to prevail throughout the entire plains country.

The three men who came West with Angus Mackay in 'eighty-two were Williamson, Miller and Boon. They all hailed from Ontario County, Ontario, in the vicinity of Pickering. Mr. Mackay, who, was born in that locality in 1841, was also educated at the old Whitby Grammar School. In 1866 he was Lieutenant in the 34th Regiment of Fort Erie, and was engaged in active service at the time of the Fenian Raid. So, although being known now principally for his work of the past thirty years in Western Canada Mr. Mackay spent the first forty-one years of his life in the East. When the group of the four Ontario County farmers left for the Western frontier the C. P. R. was running only as far west as Oak Lake, at that time a point 165 miles beyond Winnipeg. After Oak Lake, a lonely, boundless expanse of prairie was the only view, and on toward the western skyline journeyed the four settlers with their wagons and cumbersome ox-teams, for a distance of 150 miles, when they came to the fertile district now surrounding Indian Head. Then they selected their homesteads, in a block, formed a company with themselves as the only shareholders, and decided, in this way, to work on a co-operative basis. Two of those old homesteads have since changed hands. They belonged to Miller and Williamson, who lived long enough to see the wheat belt move in jumps from the western boundary of Manitoba to the fertile plains of the Peace River Valley.

For five years these four men worked together, and then, in 1887, the Dominion Government undertook to establish an experimental farm in Western Canada. In 1888 a farm of 690 acres was purchased from a land company which owned sixty thousand acres in the Qu'Appelle Valley country, which extends north from Indian Head as far as the Qu'Appelle River. Angus Mackay, who assisted the Government in locating the site for the first experimental farm, was appointed the first superintendent, and there on the outskirts of the town of Indian Head he established what might very aptly be called an agricultural mission, to which men have gone in increasing numbers during the past twenty-five years, to learn the gospel of sensible farming, and from which thousands of letters have been sent to those who could not come, conveying into the wilderness some word of that same gospel. As the Provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta were formed, and the rapid influx of immigration in recent years has given them thousands of farmers, other experimental stations have been established by the Dominion at Eastern and Scott, and at Lethbridge and Lacombe. These younger institutions, headed by young and capable men, are carrying on with vigor and efficiency the work which was started by the old master at Indian Head, but it is from him still that much advice is sought and much information is received.

After lying in horrible pain several hours he spied a boatful of rowing toward the spot where they came near being them in a faint voice, but they saw the ghastly figure of the colonel, with his bloody head they set up a yell and rowed a few hundred yards after them.

After some time a single blade came clambering over the boat on catching fish. He was a few yards of the colonel who latter hailed him. The moment he caught sight of the bleeding and the blood stained bandage uttered a fearful yell, lunged at the colonel and scrambled over the rocks as fast as his feet would carry him.

The colonel now began to reflect on the prospect of a life death, but fortunately his servant, alarmed at his master's sence, went in search of him following the horse's tracks, at last to the edge of the precipice.

The sudden disappearance of hoof prints near the low hedge convinced him that an accident happened. He ran to the barrack got out a boat, which a party of rowers rowed to the foot of the cliff.

Very tenderly and carefully the men lifted the colonel into the boat and brought him back to the barracks. For some months he lay in great danger, but in time the pain muscles of his back recovered eventually he was restored to good health. Not even the slightest of lameness remained to remind of his fall.

Use Chloride of Lime.

Next to corrosive sublimate the effective germ destroyer and deodorizer is chloride of lime. Corrosive sublimate is such a powerful poison it is dangerous to have in the house. But chloride of lime is perfect and very cheap. There are many uses to which chloride of lime can be put. Among these are sterilization of supplies and sewage effluents, sprinkling, flushing of gutters, treating of all sorts of hospitals, factories and railway cars; the disinfection of vermin of all kinds especially the typhoid carrying house.

incredible that such a fearful which once again confirm the Old Time Patriot Pirate of the Gulf of Mexico.

HE WAS COURTLY AND BRAVE

And as Mild a Mannered Man as Ever Scuttled Ship or Cut a Throat—He Boldly Faced Andrew Jackson, Won
His Friendship and Fought For Him.

In the brave days of old Jean Lafitte, the patriot pirate of the gulf, ruled over a little outlaw kingdom of his own within a few miles of the city of New Orleans.

A picturesque figure was Jean Lafitte, with a graceful, courtly delivery about him which made him popular with many of the most estimable dwellers in New Orleans. Handsome, able, averse to the shedding of blood and even possessed of loyalty to the government whose excise laws he made it his business to break.

Lafitte was French. He drifted to Louisiana in the early years of the nineteenth century and set up in piracy in the bay of Barataria, a sheltered harbor on the gulf of Mexico, protected by a long island called Grand Terre, where Jean Lafitte dwelt in a house of brick, with broad and comfortable verandas, where one might loaf at ease in a hammock, smoking and drinking lazily, while pirate chiefs filed in to bring reports of plunder taken and prospects ahead.

No crude or common pirate was this Jean Lafitte. He held a privateer's commission from the republic of Cartagena, which had been recently established in South America and has long since been forgotten, and this commission gave him the right to plunder Spanish ships. Lafitte's followers were a motley collection—black, white, yellow and red—restless and reckless rovers of the sea. Lafitte trafficked in silk and gold and negroes and sold his goods openly at auction even in the city of New Orleans.

He was popular, too; there is no doubt of that. Had it been otherwise he would not have been permitted to remain five years in Barataria. As early as 1809 we find governors of Louisiana thundering against him, but Lafitte went calmly about his business.
Occasionally a revenue officer was killed in a brush with the pirates. Invariably Lafitte expressed his sorrow that bloodshed had become necessary. A case was brought against him in the federal court. The district attorney was a man named Grymes. Lafitte went to see Grymes, and the result of the visit was that the district attorney resigned his office and undertook Lafitte's defense. He and the lawyer who assisted him were promised $20,000 apiece for their services and got it.
After the case was dismissed Grymes went to Barataria to receive his fee and spent a week feasting with the pirates, who treated him with princely hospitality, and escorted him back to the Mississippi in a handsome yawl, laden with caskets of gold and silver.

Repeated attempts had been made to organize a military expedition to destroy Lafitte's pirate colony, but up to the year 1814 they had always come pirates, who treated him with princely hospitality and escorted him back to the Mississippi in a handsome yawl, laden with caskets of gold and silver.

Repeated attempts had been made to organize a military expedition to destroy Lafitte's pirate colony, but up to the year 1814 they had always come to nothing. In September of that year a British brig anchored six miles from Barataria pass, and its captain came ashore and offered Lafitte a captain's commission in the British navy and $30,000 if he would join the British in an attack against New Orleans.

Lafitte pretended to consider the offer, sending word meantime to a member of the legislature of the British captain's offer and declaring that he would never accept it. He sent another letter to Governor Chaliborne, who had offered $5,000 for Lafitte's head and for whose head Lafitte in return, in a spirit of gay bravado, had offered a reward of $50,000. Lafitte suggested that the governor extend clemency to his pirates, who in return would aid in the defense of the state against the British. The offer was rejected, and an expedition under Commodore Patterson of the United States navy swooped down on Barataria unexpectedly, tore down the brick house, confiscated much plunder and drove out the pirates.

Jean Lafitte and his brother Pierre escaped and established themselves on the lower Mississippi. Meanwhile Andrew Jackson had arrived to undertake the defense of New Orleans. Jean Lafitte went boldly into New Orleans to see him, although the fiery general had declared he would have nothing to do with "these pirates and hellish banditti." There must have been a peculiar charm and persuasiveness about Jean Lafitte, for after the interview Jackson changed his mind, accepted the aid of the pirates and showed the utmost trust in them. And throughout the siege of New Orleans the followers of Lafitte showed themselves worthy of confidence. They were excellent gunners, and two of Lafitte's captains, Dominique You and a man named Beluche, were put in charge of ships. When the British had been driven away Jackson recommended that Lafitte and his men be granted pardon for all previous misdemeanors, and the thing was done.

Nobody seems to know exactly what became of Jean Lafitte and his brother. In 1816 we find Jean in Galveston, Tex., whence he was chased by the Spanish government in 1820. Later there came stories of cruises in the Caribbean. The call of the sea was too strong for the one time Baratarian. —Kansas City Star.

MABEL'S CHITCHAT

The Homemade Awning an Aid to Seashore Comfort.

CHEAP AND CONVENIENT IDEA

The Fatal Habit of Eternal Reiteration
More a Failing of the Feminine Than
The Masculine Sex—A Remedy For This Failing Is Suggested.

My Dear Elsa—So you have decided to spend August by the "sad sea waves"? Now, you really must take a homemade awning with you as a shield from the sun while sitting on the sands. Of course you will find plenty of covered chairs which you can rent on the beach by the hour, but they are not only expensive when frequently used, but they have the disadvantage, too, of not being movable. You love to get off by yourself in secluded nooks, and it's out of the question with one of these chairs as a resting place.

You say, "Why not use an umbrella?" According to my notion, this protection is awkward, gives inadequate shade and shuts off air. So it's me for the homemade awning that can be toted around with you. This is the way to get the awning into shape: Buy four bamboo or cane poles about five feet long and fasten a brass hook into the top of each one.

Now take four yards of dark green sateen or similar material a yard wide and cut it into two two yard lengths and sew the strips together, making a four yard square. Hem all four edges and at each corner sew a good sized brass eye to fasten over the screw holes on the poles.

Now drive your poles one foot into the sand about two yards apart in a square, and when you've hitched your top to it you will have a four yard block of shade open to the breezes in which four people may sit comfortably.

Denim would, of course, make a denser shade, but it is heavy to burden oneself with, and the chief joy of this awning, my dear, is the fact that it can be easily carried to the beach—poles and all—and as readily moved from spot to spot on the sands or rocks.

Talking about vacation and vacation conveniences reminds me of a woman where we stopped for a week's "breathing spell" not long ago. Well, this particular mondaine was more addicted to vain repetition than most of our sex, and Dick says, "We've all got this fault bad." But, really, just between ourselves, we women are given to the uncomfortable habit of rubbing it in. Lots of women give a command to their children not once, but twenty times. They tell their husbands their opinions on certain matters on all and every occasion. In other words, they confuse emphasis with frequency, and this is where they defeat their own purpose.

Forgive this sermonizing on the subject, but when a painter wants to focus attention upon a certain face he makes everything else in the picture subservient to this one single feature.

RAG BAG OF TODAY.

The Modern Housewife Has Four of These Catchalls.

The rag bags of today are quite as up to date as the housekeeper to whom they belong. They are not the bulky, well filled ones that our grandmothers had that were saved for the visit of the tin peddler, when they were disposed of for quite an appreciable amount, to be applied on new tinware to replenish the kitchen shelves. The modern bags serve quite different purposes, and four are considered the number needed by the particular housewife, and none of the contents are for sale.

One contains clean cotton rags for cleaning purposes, one is for old linen pieces for household or sickroom use, one for old soft silk and satin pieces for special dust cloths for polished furniture and one for soft flannel pieces, chamois and old suede glove tops for silver polishers. These bags are considered valuable household assets and are kept most carefully. The common rags are disposed of daily, as they do not sell for enough to pay for the nuisance they are. If the tops of long gloves are saved they will be found most useful in a number of ways.

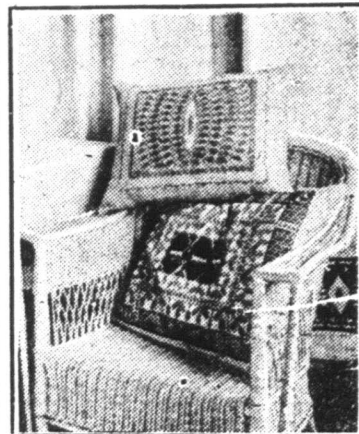

They are good to recover nail buffers with, for foundation circles for rosettes, for fancy work cushions and needle books, to clean jewelry with and for a dozen and one other things. Flour bags after being ripped open and washed may find a resting place in the cotton bag until there are a half dozen or more, when they may be hemmed and used to cover food.

GLORIFIED CUSHIONS.

Lacquer Furniture Has Brought In New Pillow Schemes.

The cushion has been glorified lately almost out of recognition. Once upon a time a good plain silk or satin cover was accounted all sufficient. Now cushions, or, rather, the covers, are changed at least once each season. The vogue for lacquer has had its influence on the fashion in cushions. Rich fabrics are still used, but so that the attention shall not be distracted from the beautiful background of red or black lacquer with decorations of dull gold their colors must be subdued.

Gold tissue shot with dark blue or purple is a favorite choice. The long

SUMMER DRINKS.

Several Thoroughly Reliable Recipes For Cold Dainties.

It is a good idea to have on hand several cooling beverages to serve when the weather is warm. Iced tea, coffee, lemonade and orangeade are favorite summer drinks, while ice creams and ices are always hailed with joy. Several recipes for cold dainties are given below:

Iced Coffee.

To each quart of strong black hot coffee add half a pint of milk and four tablespoonfuls of sifted sugar and when cold add half a pint of thick cream. Ice in the freezing machine and then place in a large jug in a pan of freezing salt and cover with a blanket. The coffee should be freshly roasted and made as strong as for after dinner coffee. Serve in tall glasses with a spoonful of whipped cream on each.

Barley Water.

Juice of four lemons with the rind, one-quarter pound of pearl barley, one or two ounces of loaf sugar, three quarts of boiling water. Well wash the barley in a little cold water. Peel the rind of the lemons very thin. Pour the boiling water on to all the ingredients. When cold strain off and serve.

Pineapple Lemonade.

Pare and grate a ripe pineapple and pour over this the strained juice of five lemons. Make a sirup with one pound of sugar and one pint of water boiled together for ten minutes. Mix all the ingredients and add one quart of water, strain through muslin, put into well corked bottles and keep in a cool place. When serving pour it over broken ice and put a cherry in each glass. The above keeps some months if tightly corked down.

Lemon Sirup.

Peel the rind thinly, use the juice of sixteen small lemons, six pounds of granulated sugar, two quarts of water, two ounces of tartaric acid. Pour the water when boiling on to the rind, juice and sugar. Cover it over and let it stand for twenty-four hours. Next day add the tartaric acid and strain. Let it stand another twenty-four hours. Bottle and keep in a cool place.

Lemon Sherbet.

Rub the yellow rind of five small lemons with three-quarters of a pound of loaf sugar. Crush the latter to a powder, put it into a saucepan with a pint of water and simmer gently till the sugar is dissolved. When cold add the strained juice of the lemon. Take out the rind and serve the sherbet in glasses. This quantity is sufficient for six or seven persons.

Corsets Need Special Care In Summer.

A woman who is very athletic and finds that her corsets soon soil from perspiration says that her maid constantly freshens them for her by very simple means. She places them flat on a wooden table and scrubs them with ammonia and soapuds, then hangs them in the sun. When they are perfectly dry she uses sparingly on them the mixture used for whitening canvas shoes, smearing it on lightly with a rag to give an even whiteness.

With each bath the corsets are re-trimmed at the top with inexpensive lace or a shirred band of footing, as this goes far toward making them look almost like new, and, though old cor-

 ...this sermonizing on the subject, but when a painter wants to focus attention upon a certain face he makes everything else in the picture subservient to this one single feature. If an actress exploits her attractive mannerisms continually she is a poor actress, and the woman who crams her house full of a hundred pieces of bric-a-brac destroys the virtue of all.

The best way in my estimation to put a stop to this unfortunate practice of repetition and repeating is to diplomatically lead up to a point or seize it when it comes in the natural course of events and then say what one wants to with unmistakable clearness. There will have to be sufficient preparation for this climax, to be sure, but forethought should be one of action rather than of words, methinks.

And after all, dear, gaining one's point is not the chief business of life. I often think one learns more through what one has been forced to accept from others than through what one has forced others to accept from us. But if one wants to gain some point or to make a position clear on some matter one stands a better chance of doing it by a few well directed remarks than a constant hammering on the same old nail.

Let me tell you about a chocolate pudding, a delicious summer dessert, by the way, which we had the other night, and then my story for this week will be ended.

Into a double boiler or an aluminum saucepan put one-half cup of granulated sugar and two rounded tablespoonfuls of cornstarch. Blend these carefully with one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt and then add two and a half cups of sweet milk. Cook all together until it begins to thicken, stirring gently from the bottom to prevent lumping and scorching; then add two squares of cooking chocolate and a teaspoonful of butter. Let it cook slowly for ten minutes. If an aluminum pan is used or a half hour if a double boiler is preferred; then remove from the fire and add one teaspoonful of vanilla. Beat thoroughly, pour into a mold which has been thoroughly moistened with cold water and when cold serve with whipped cream.

Hope you'll like the pudding. Yours ever,

THE NEWEST DESIGNS.

Venetian shape is most liked, and tarnished lace of gold thread, but soft and fine in texture, is applied at the ends for, say, four inches. Gold tassels depend from each cover, and just below the "knob" of the tassel, glimpsed through the gold and supplying a charming note of color, is a touch of old rose nixon. Old pieces of needlework or tapestry are also applied to chiffon velvet and are outlined with wool. Wine colored velvet, it has been found, looks particularly well on a settee or chair of black lacquer. The designs seen in the cushions pictured are new and most attractive.

Romance
 In search of buried treasure
 In some forgotten land
 I'd like to go a-digging
 Along the shining sand.
 The chest I would uncover
 In just about a day
 And load it on a vessel
 And carry it away.

This grubbing after money
 The way I have to do
 And chasing festive dollars
 And picking up but few
 Is hardly to my liking.
 I'd rather have a show
 To dig up treasures buried
 By pirates long ago.

They talk of easy money,
 The kind that comes around
 And asks you to accept it
 As though it had been found.
 I never have discovered
 A single dollar yet
 That didn't reach my pocket
 By labor and by sweat.

Then, ho, for Treasure Island!
 I see it in a dream.
 Get busy, O ye stokers,
 And crowd on lots of steam!
 It's easier than working
 In office or in store.
 I only wish to goodness
 I'd thought of it before!

tag to give an even whiteness.
 With each bath the corsets are re-trimmed at the top with inexpensive lace or a shirred band of footing, as this goes far toward making them look almost like new, and, though old corsets are best for exercising, there is no need to have them look shabby. "C." as this woman naively remarked, "one may some time have an unlucky accident, and mortification, added to pain, would be more than I could survive."

Try This Dessert.

Take two boxes of raspberries and pick them over, reserving the best to serve whole, says the Woman's World Magazine. What remains mash and strain through a cheesecloth and place this juice in a granite pan to come to the boiling point. rounding tablespoonfuls of cornstarch wet in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, add one cupful of sugar and stir until it looks transparent; then add one level tablespoonful of butter and the juice of one-half lemon and fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs; turn the mixture into cups or fancy molds and set in a place where it will become cold. When serving place on a cold dish and fill the center of the crown and the base with the fruit that has been reserved. Pass sweet cream with this dish.

Sleeves Do Not Match.

The pegtop mantles started the rogue, for it was found that the fullness of the material necessary about the shoulders could produce the sleeves and afterward be narrowed down to make the tapering silhouette.

Numbers of the new dance frocks are given an individualistic touch by sleeves which do not match. A model of much distinction was seen developed in blush pink charmeuse, with a limp corsage of the same colored mous-seline de sole draped over lace.

The skirt was knotted on one side and was draped over an ivory lace simulated petticoat, threaded with gold to match the lace of the corsage chemisette.

ORIGIN OF OLD GLORY.

ever heard of a little girl—or a
for that matter—being a con-

a girl of fifteen would not be to collect fares on a public nce, but in England the young ose picture you see is a conn her father's motorbus, which ic, and when anything gets the

with the bus she helps her

al to him as a big, strong boy.

The Origin of Old Glory.

you ever wonder where the
in flag got its nickname, Old
If you have thought anything
t, then the origin of the name terest you. Captain Stephen was without doubt the first man sten our flag Old Glory. He rn at Salem, Mass., March 17.
When about to sail from that command of the brig Charles t, in the year 1831, he was prewith a large American flag. As sent aloft and broke out to the tain Driver christened the beau-tful Old Glory, and this was the name he evermore used for it.

His flag shared with the captain the perils and adventures of the deep, and on his retirement from the sea it was taken by him to Nashville, Tenn., where he finally made his home and where he died in 1886. Everybody wanted his flag at the time of the civil war, but Captain Driver quitted it with his own hands and made it into a comforter for his own bed.

However, when the Federal troops took Nashville the stanch Union captain carried it to the capitol at Washington, and as it floated from the flagstaff—unquilted again and a real flag—
he exclaimed, "Now that Old Glory is up there, gentlemen, I am ready to die."

At present this same flag is in the Essex Institute, in Salem, Mass. Isn't it an interesting thing to know about?

The Miller.

The players decide among themselves what one of their number shall act the part of the miller. When this is done, each boy chooses a girl as partner. The miller takes his stand in the middle of the room, and they all walk arm in arm around him, singing
the following lines:

There was a jolly miller who lived by himself,
As the wheel went round he made his wealth,
One hand in the hopper and the other on the bag,
As the wheel went round he made his grab.

At the word "grab" all must change partners, and while the change is going on the miller has the opportunity given him of securing a partner for himself. Should he succeed in doing so the one left without a partner must take the place of the miller and must occupy the center of the room until he gets another partner.

A Basket Luncheon.

Several days before the luncheon the invitations for the affair may be placed in tiny baskets filled with flowers and left at the door of each guest to be.
These small baskets may be bought at the ten cent store and covered with delicate shades of crepe paper, which is frilled around the edges and wound around the handles.

The dining room may be decorated with similar small baskets filled with flowers and vines, either suspended from the plate rail or otherwise hung about the room, while larger baskets filled with blossoms may be placed about the room. The table may also be decorated with vines and blossoms
as desired.

The refreshments may be served altogether in baskets, says the Woman's World. In the center of the table may be placed a flower decorated basket containing sandwiches of different kinds, which are passed around. The salad may be served in little baskets made of lettuce leaves, and cream cheese molded in the form of little eggs may be served in tiny baskets made of parsley leaves. Candy may also be made in small fancy baskets.

JUVENILE STYLES

es Smart Thing This Season.

PARIS MODES IN EVIDENCE.

Many Original Materials For the Midsummer Frocks of Sheer White Voile.
Marquiesette and Batiste to Be Found in the Shops at Reduced Prices.

It has been the objection of many American mothers that Parisian styles for children were absurdly grownup and "fussy." There is some truth in the statement, but the children of the better class in Paris are modishly clothed in frocks of extreme simplicity that have, however, all the earmarks of the latest vogue.

"Clothes consciousness" in a child is a deplorable thing. On the other hand, there is no good reason why a little girl, for instance, should not wear pretty, attractive dresses, coats and hats without incurring this censure.
The summer kiddie styles all smack of the ideas, some of them rather extreme, that are to be seen on mother's costumes, but they have brought an element of originality into the wee folks' clothes that otherwise have been monotonous, if not exactly ugly.

It is a summer fad for the little girl's frock to show a touch of color, and the combination of lemon yellow and white is a happy change from the more usual blue and white or red and white variations.

Materials this season in white are charming, and the mother in search of a fabric has a number of sheer stuffs from which to choose. Among these voile, marquiesette, crepe and batiste are equally popular.

The two little frocks illustrated are charming examples that emanate from Paris. One of the dresses is of white pique, and a black velvet sash passes through buttonholed slashes. The scalloping is done in pink on this frock.

Even children's clothes have the slouchy effect so noticeable a feature of grownup styles. The other gown pictured is of stone blue linen, with collar and cuffs of batiste, trimmed with plaited frills, and the entire effect is absurdly "sloppy" and modish.

UNSIGHTLY STAINS.

Just What to Do When One's Clothes
Meet With Accidents.

Tea and coffee stains, unsightly as they seem, are not difficult to manage if they are treated without delay. Tea and also cocoa stains should be rubbed out in cold water first, and then boiling water should be poured slowly through the spot. Coffee stains may be treated with the boiling water in the same way, but it should be poured through at once, omitting the rubbing in cold water.

Stains of coffee or tea containing cream should be treated with pure glycerin, which can be used successfully alike upon silk, wool or cotton fabrics. Rub it on the spot thoroughly with a brush or a soft cloth, let it lie for a little while and then wash out with lukewarm water, afterward pressing it with a warm iron.

An excellent cleaning liquid, made with a pint of grain alcohol, a pint of ether or chloroform and a tablespoonful of household ammonia, is pretty sure to be efficacious in taking out the stains of black coffee or of strong clear tea. It is equally good for removing the traces of almost any kind of dirt and grime and grease. The mixture leaves no mark if properly used and does not injure the fabric. It can be used with a brush or a soft cloth.
Several folds of clean cloth should always be kept underneath the spot that is being cleaned.

His Idea.

"It is never too late to mend."
"Hic—hic—is that your idea, old boy?"
"It is."
"Good thing. I think it is never too late to spend either, so come on."

Silenced His Notes.

"Is your husband musical?"
"He used to be, but isn't any more."
"Getting old?"
"No; it isn't that. He used to pump the organ in the church, but now they have a motor to do the work."

Good Intentions.

"It is funny to hear women argue."
"Funny?"
"Yes."
"I never heard them."
"What—never heard women argue?"
"No; only try."

Costly.

"Politeness pays."
"It does, does it?"
"Yes."
"What does it pay?"
"Its debts."

PLANT BREEDING ON FARM.

The cry is becoming more general for better seeds. How are we to get them? As the situation is, says a correspondent of the American Agriculturist, I believe the answer to the question is to breed them ourselves. We often see in horticultural and agricultural periodicals articles that have a tendency to throw a wet blanket over this proposition, claiming that seed breeding is a business of its own, requiring special training to do it properly. This may be true, viewed from a scientific standpoint, and yet there are few market gardeners or truck farmers who cannot breed and grow what seeds they require for their individual plantings.

Root Crops For Dairy Cow.

No matter what some people tell you, turnips and other roots make fine milk producing feed. Turnips will not affect the flavor of milk if fed at the same time as three pounds of nitrogen go into the air, and it will cost you $3.50 to buy it back again. Wheat or oat straw from an acre contains about twelve to fourteen pounds of nitrogen and clover chaff three times this amount.

"One can easily figure from these deductions what a reckless loss to the farm is a fire in the chaff pile or stalk field. The cutaway and disk harrows will chop these bulky materials up ready for the plow where they can be turned under. If you want to fatten the old farm, stuff it with organic matter."

GROWN IN LEGAL SOIL.

A deaf mute is not incapable of entering into contracts if shown to have sufficient mental capacity.—Alex versus Matzke, Mich. 115 N. W. Rep. 251.

Generally every partner is under obligation to exercise due diligence and reasonable skill and devote his services to the promotion of the common benefit of the firm without compensation by way of wages or salary unless otherwise agreed upon.

The United States patent law requires a person applying for a patent to make oath that he does verily believe himself to be the original and first inventor or discoverer of the art, machine, manufacture, composition or improvement for which he solicits a patent and that he does not know and does not believe that the same was ever before known or used.

framework or coarse sheet and weighted down. This is done to keep out air, and after the silo has been opened for use in the spring or summer it is best to replace this top covering after each day's supply is taken out. Avoid, as far as practicable, sinking holes in the silage. In fact, keep as little of the silage exposed to the air as possible.

The daily ration of silage for a dairy cow is from thirty to forty pounds when fed with other fodders; when there is some grass available thirty pounds per day is ample. Sheep will eat as much as three pounds a day. It is advisable to give horses small quantities only of silage; otherwise there may be trouble from stomach derangements. Limit the amount fed to a few pounds per day. Pigs and poultry will eat small quantities.

Silage may be made of all plants that animals are permitted to eat in the green state, and such fodder preserved by this means loses but little of its feeding properties in the process. In one way there is a slight improvement. That is, the tougher fiber of siloed fodder is softened and made thereby more digestible and acceptable to animals.

However, there is great risk in putting vegetables in a silo if a dairy is kept. The milk is apt to be tainted. Oats, rye, millet and alfalfa work well in connection with corn, but the latter is the main staple and may be used by itself.

The Value of Limestone.

"As valuable as lime is on it when the correction of acid necessary it is not necessary exorbitant prices for it," said Elliot of the College of Agriculture of Ohio State university. "At extension schools during the dis of soil liming it developed that ers were paying as high as $9 a carbonate of lime when ground stone, which would do the work as well, could be secured for a third of that cost. Get good limestone, and it will correct just as readily as the best of lime you can find on the farm. The farm profits will not increase such useless waste is eliminated the farm practices."

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $10 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment."

BLACK ROT OF CABBAGE.

Recognized by Blackened Veins of Leaves—Treatment Recommended.

Black bacterial rot of cabbage, says a bulletin of the Connecticut agricultural experiment station, occurs on a number of related cruciferous plants, but we have reported it from this before only on cauliflower. While we did not see it on cabbage until last season, it seems quite probable that it has caused more or less harm to this host before, since it has been reported as quite injurious in several other eastern states in times past.

This disease is recognized by the blackened veins of the leaves, where the bacteria develop chiefly, and in time extend down into the head. The leaf tissues finally turn yellow, and the leaves are easily pulled off. Soft rot, caused in part by other organisms, often loosens them at the base and develops an ill smelling internal decay. The bacteria gain entrance through drops of water at the water pores on the margins of the leaves.

BLACK BACTERIAL ROT OF CABBAGE.

As the germs of this disease can be carried on the seed, it is wise to see that the seed used does not come from a diseased crop. If doubt exists it is well to treat the seed with formalin, 1-240, or corrosive sublimate, 1-1000, for fifteen minutes. Likewise, if the disease shows up in a seed bed, this should be changed the next year. If bad in the field this land should not be used for cruciferous crops for several seasons and, even if the disease is not present, yearly rotation is desirable where it can be carried on without especial difficulty. Refuse from diseased cabbages should never find its way to the manure pile.

WHY BURN UP WEALTH?

According to some authorities, the value of plant food removed from the soil per bushel of wheat is about 30 cents for average yields. The plant food elements contained in straw are sometimes returned to the soil whence

NEW POTATO DISEASE.

Silver Scurf is Spreading Rapidly. Infected Tubers Must Be Rejected.

A new disease, silver scurf (Spondyliodinium atrovirens harz), has recently been introduced from Europe and is spreading rapidly in our eastern states, says a recent bulletin of the United States department of agriculture.

This disease is marked by dark areas on the skin of the tuber, which on close examination may be seen to be spotted with fine black points. This fungus does not produce a decay of the potato, but after the skin is killed there is a rapid loss of moisture, and the tubers shrivel and take on a silvery appearance, greatly depreciating their market value.

This fungus is apparently not killed by seed disinfection; therefore all infected potatoes must be rejected.

USE ALL THE CORN.

Silo Makes Available Feeding Value of Stalk as Well as Ear.

By the use of the silo and harvesting the corn plant for silage the feeding value of the plant is increased from $10 to $12 per acre. It is estimated that 60 per cent of the feeding value of the corn plant is in the ear of corn and 40 per cent is in the stalk.

If a field of corn which would make forty bushels per acre is harvested in the usual way of gathering the corn and leaving the stalk stand we have harvested only 60 per cent of the crop. The forty bushels of corn at 50 cents per bushel are worth $20, but if the stalks have two-thirds the feeding value of the grain the stalks are worth from $10 to $12 or $15 per acre, depending upon the quality of the crop and the condition they are in when harvested for silage.

If the stalks are left in the field they have a feeding value of from $1 to $1.50 or $2.50 per acre. This decreased value of the cornstalk when left in the field is due to the fact that when the stalk is left standing it loses its moisture and the fiber becomes hard, woody and indigestible.

It is therefore evident that to obtain the maximum feeding value of the corn crop it should be harvested and made into silage and that the use of the silo will increase the feeding value of the corn plants from $10 to $12 per acre.—Roy C. Potts, Department of Dairy Husbandry, Oklahoma A. and M.

McMILLAN'S CORNER, ONT.,

SEPT. 30th, 1910

"Your remedy, 'Fruit-a-tives' is a perfect panacea for Rheumatism. For years, I suffered distressing pain from Sciatica or Sciatic Rheumatism, being laid up several times a year for days at a time. I went to different doctors who told me there was no use doing anything—it would pass away. They gave me mustard plasters and other remedies that did no good. Plasters took no effect on me—except to blister me and make raw spots. I took many advertised remedies without benefit, but fortunately, about two years ago, I got 'Fruit-a-tives' and they cured me.

Since then, I take 'Fruit-a-tives' occasionally and keep free of pain. I am satisfied 'Fruit-a-tives' cured me of Rheumatism and they will cure anyone who takes them as directed. If this letter would be of value to you, publish it." JOHN B. McDONALD.

N'T LET CROPS "FIGHT."

Professor Taylor of the agricultural economics department of the University of Wisconsin cultural experiment station says no single farm crop grown in Wisconsin keeps the farm laborer busy all the time, but by a combination of crops employment of labor can be extended materially throughout the year. There are, however, limits to diversification. For instance, corn and tobacco require labor the same time for planting, cultivation and are therefore competing crops, but tobacco furnishes winter employment to labor when there is a dearth of employment, and before to this extent these crops are noncompeting or complementary. The use of non-competing crops may well extend the operations of the farm.

valuable as lime is on the farm the correction of acid soils is ry it is not necessary to pay ant prices for it," said Porter of the College of Agriculture, late university. "At recent ex- schools during the discussion lining it developed that farm- e paying as high as $9 a ton for ite of lime when ground lime- which would do the work just e could be secured for less than of that cost. ## WHEAT BURN OF WEALTH.

According to some authorities, the value of plant food removed from the soil per bushel of wheat is about 30 cents for average yields. The plant food elements contained in straw are some- times returned to the soil whence they came, either in the form of straw or mixed with farm manure where it has been utilized for bedding purposes. It is not plain why the farmer should spend so much time and energy striving to raise large yields of grain and straw and then waste about one-half of the net profit of the crop. There should be some means of utilizing that portion of the wheat crop which heretofore has been burned on a large percentage of our farms. —Kansas Farmer.

Good Plant Protector.

To be made from bottomless barrel, especially for early squash or the main crop in the far north.

Two covers are made from one barrel, which is sawed in two, with a slant through the bilge of the barrel extending to upper and lower hoops. Tie a string about the barrel and mark with a pencil for a guide to saw by.

Cover each half with a piece of muslin, which is held in place by the top hoop if easily removed, otherwise by tying a string about the barrel.

Its usefulness may be prolonged by putting on a bay wire for a bottomless hoop.

Fasten near the bottom with double pointed carpet tacks or small wire nails.

Any sized cask may be used suited to the plant, from a paint keg to a puncheon.—American Cultivator.

What Makes a Good Cow?

Professor W. J. Kennedy of the Iowa station recommends the follow- ing in reference to the selection of breeding stock for the dairy:

In selecting dairy cattle the real test must be the scales and the Babcock tester. The cow is a machine to convert food into milk. Thus she must have a large middle and a strong constitution to insure the best results. She must also have a large udder, large milk wells, large crooked milk veins and good sized teats.

What Makes the Good Bacon.

Of course you like the big, juicy, red and white streaked strips of bacon. But you may not know that this kind of bacon is produced by feeding ground barley mixed with skim milk. Soaked barley alone is an excellent hog feed. Barley also is good for sheep and as a feed for horses and cattle is nearly equal to corn.

Lowly.

"What have you on your mind?"

"My corns."

"Where are you carrying your mind now?"

Good Reason.

"Why worry over trifles?"

"They are not so expensive as some- thing larger."

Spools the Flavor.

She said as he about his pipe in cheerful manner joked, "A husband is not like a ham; he should not be well smoked."

Woolly and Haggard.

It is therefore evident that to obtain the maximum feeding value of the corn crop it should be harvested and made into silage and that the use of the silo will increase the feeding value of the corn plants from $10 to $12 per acre.—Roy C. Potts, Department of Dairy Husbandry, Oklahoma A. and M. College.

PRUNE AND SPRAY.

The good book says to watch and pray;
'Tis good advice, as all will say;
But prayers won't stop the bugs and blight,
So make up your mind you'll have to fight.
If you raise good fruit and make it pay,
You must fertilize, prune and spray.
—Farm Press.

For Filling the Apple Barrel.

How to pack apples in barrels: Two layers of fruit should be placed in the bottom of barrel with stems down and as close together as possible. These will form the fac- ing, for this end will be the top when opened. Fill in with the same grade, shake the barrel often and when near the top put in two more layers with stems up, letting the last layer stand a full inch above the chine of barrel. Now put on lid and slowly press into place, shaking the barrel in the meanwhile. The stores sell very excellent barrel headers or presses. But one can be rigged very quickly by using a plank or scantling with one end under a stud reaching to the shed plate and nailed temporarily in place. See cut. Be careful not to press the apples too hard.—Farm Journal.

Fertilize Your Orchard.

As neglected as the average farm orchard is in almost every particular it probably suffers worse from the lack of fertilization than from any other cause. It is indeed a rare case where the farmer or perhaps even the orchardist manures or fertilizes his orchard as thoroughly and as conscientiously as he does his corn and wheat ground, says the Farmer's Guide.

Kaffir as Good as Corn.

Kaffir is as good a feed as corn. Because farmers are learning this Kaffir has become one of the most important crops grown in Kansas today. The grain is valued highly as a feed for all classes of live stock. In feeding five bushels of Kaffir seed are considered as being equivalent to four bushels of shelled corn.

Came Near It.

A New England farmer was once describing in the presence of a very humane person the great age and debility of a horse that he formerly owned and used. "You ought to have killed him," interrupted the humane person indignantly. "Well," drawled the farmer, "we did—almost."

A Mean Dig.

Myrtle—Look what a lovely diamond engagement ring George has given me. Estelle—Yes; it's lovely. It nearly broke my heart when I sent it back to him.

It is usually the morning after that life seems such an empty dream.

If we could only forget the past and arrange the future to suit ourselves the present were paradise enough.

His Remedy.

"Why do you talk so much?"

"For self protection."

"For self protection?"

"Yes."

"But I don't see how that protects you. I should think you'd be in danger of some crank trying to shut you up."

"Not in the least. And when I am talking I can't hear the rest of you idiots yawning all round me."

Growing Sophisticated.

"How did your husband behave when you were calling?" asked her dearest friend when they had settled down for a confidential chat.

"Oh, very nicely," replied the energetic husband trainer. "I was quite proud of him. The lady showed us through her nice new home, and he didn't even ask what the bathtub was for."

Variety.

Life is but an empty dream.
Have a nightmare on cucumbers
And a pint of store ice cream.

Their Exercise.

"Women don't take enough exercise."

"Oh, pshaw!"

"But they don't."

"They do too."

"I'd like to know what they do."

"Aren't they always jumping at conclusions?"

Something in Its Favor.

"I don't think much of astronomy."

"Why not?"

"The heavenly bodies are too far away to interest me."

"I can tell you one thing."

"What's that?"

"There are no flies on the sun."

Two Simple Desserts.

Banana Pudding.—Lady fingers or stale cake, two large bananas sliced, one-half cupful seeded raisins, two eggs, two tablespoonfuls cornstarch, one and a half pints of milk.

Line deep baking dish with cake. Lay sliced bananas and raisins in bottom. Make custard of eggs, yolks only, milk and cornstarch. Pour hot custard over bananas. Make meringue of egg whites, spread on top of pudding, and bake a few minutes until well flavored and brown.

Date Cake.—One pound dates (cut, not chopped), one pound English walnuts, cut; one cupful granulated sugar, one cupful flour, three eggs.

Beat eggs well, add sugar, and then the nuts and dates. Last the flour and spread one-half inch in shallow pan. Bake in slow oven. Cut in small squares while hot. When cold lay in stone jar. This cake improves with keeping.

Mr. MacGregor Leaves Town.

North Hastings Review, Aug. 21.—The bustling "Beehive," which has been the scene of Mr. Alex McGregor's activities has been sold to a firm in Belleville, and the present proprietor intends leaving next week for Napanee, where he has purchased a larger business in the same line of trade. Coming to Madoc about twelve years ago as manager of a branch store, Mr. MacGregor has proved to be a most energetic and one of our best respected business men. After a few years as manager, he purchased the store outright, and his genial manner, coupled with square dealing, has won for him no small degree of success. As a citizen "Mac," as he is familiarly known, is held in high esteem by a wide circle of friends throughout the community. He has been actively associated with several fraternal societies, in which he held important offices. In St. Peter's Presbyterian church he has taken a prominent part in the work, being on the Board of Management and has been, for about ten years, its treasurer. His services in the Sunday School, particularly in the orchestra, were given tangible recognition on Sunday when the school presented him with a gold headed cane, and an address. The event was so unexpected that "Mac" was quite unable to make any reply, which he deferred until next Sunday. In leaving Madoc, Mr. MacGregor will be greatly missed, but Napanee will gain a good citizen, and an up-to-date merchant. With his many friends The Review joins in wishing "Mac" the success that his undoubted qualities merit.

Gas Exploded in Vault.

On Wednesday afternoon Mr. W. P. Deroche, registrar of the Surrogate Court, entered the vault in his office at the Court House and struck a match to light the gas. At once an explosion occurred setting fire to the papers in the vault and severely burning Mr. Deroche's head, face and neck. Despite his burns Mr. Deroche smothered the fire out with his hands and saved the contents of the vault from destruction. An alarm of fire was turned in and the firemen responded but the fire was all out on their arrival. A defective gas burner allowed the gas to escape into the vault. Mr. Deroche is confined to his home suffering severely from his injuries.

Brewster's Millions.

Frederick Thompson's production of "Brewster's Millions," a dramatization of George Barr McCutcheon's famous story of the same name, will be the attraction at the Opera House, Napanee, Sept. 3rd. The stage version of Mr. McCutcheon's book is the co-work of Winchell Smith and Byron Ongley. It will be presented here by a New York Cast. The story is odd and tells of the efforts of Montgomery Brewster to spend a million dollars left him by his grandfather, within a year, and preserve complete secrecy regarding his ultimate object. He is not permitted to give or gamble it away, nor is he permitted to endow any institution or erect any permanent memorial. This is made a condition under which he inherits a fortune seven times as vast from an uncle who has conceived and nourished a bitter hatred for the grandfather. Frederick Thompson, the producer, has furnished a scenical equipment for the play which, from all accounts, has proved sensational. The third act—in the scene aboard the yacht—one of Brewster's money-spending devices—there is a marvelous and particularly effective bit of stagecraft. In this scene a storm arises and the stage settings, the movements of the waves, the lighting effects, all combine to make it a particularly realistic and interesting stage effect. The chief character, that of "Monty" Brewster is in the hands of the well-known and versatile young actor, Louis Neilsen. The heroine will be essayed by the dainty and talented Katherine Francis. The other long list of characters will be represented by names well known on the mimic stage. Plan open Monday at the opera house.

SPRING 1913

We are pleased to announce that we have been appointed sole representatives in Napanee for the House of Hobberlin, tailors to the Canadian gentleman. This firm we have been informed employs a most skillful and artistic designer to whom they pay the modest sum of $8000 per annum. Their sample outfit is the most elaborate we have ever seen from any house doing a special order business. We KNOW their Cloths are of a high order and the range embraces every line that a good dresser could desire. They absolutely guarantee every garment, they turn out to be perfect in fit and workmanship. Money back if not satisfactory, and no grumbling. What more could any man ask. We would be delighted to show their range of samples to any man contemplating the purchase of a new suit. If you order and the garments are not entirely satisfactory to YOU it will cost you nothing whatever but the time you spent in making your selection. We know of no fairer way of doing business.

Samples are now ready for inspection at
